

DEFY AUSTRIA; A PIGMY ARMY

Principality Of Montenegro Threatens The Peace Of All Europe Today.

CUTS TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION

Marshals Its Forces To Control The Seaport And Plants One Of Its Few Batteries Ready For Fighting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Vlouna, Nov. 18.—It is announced here this afternoon that the Kingdom of Montenegro is preparing for war and has already taken steps to bring its heavy guns and army into positions of defense of the Montenegrin frontier.

Cut the Wires
Advices received from Cetinje state that the telegraph lines between Cetinje and Cattaro have been cut and that the government has mounted heavy guns on the slopes dominating Cattaro.

Occupy Dup Pass
Dup Pass has also been occupied by a strong military force. This pass leads into Herzegovina on the northwest boundary and here some eight thousand of the picked troops of the army have been posted.

The Country
The area of Montenegro is estimated at 15,000 English square miles. It is situated on the Adriatic Sea with Bosnia, an Austrian province, on the west and European Turkey on the east. While of the same Slavonic nation as the Serbians, it is separated by a wide strip of territory from them.

Small Army
Its army is made up of tribal militia, each family having to furnish one man for the service. This is divided into divisions and after actual service with the colors these reserves meet once a month for rifle practice. They have about 35,000 three-fire Russian rifles and 8 batteries of rapid-fire guns. In all they have a paper force of 60,000, of which but 30,000 can take the field.

Principality
Montenegro is a principality ruled by Nicholas First. It was recognized as an independent principality by the treaty of Berlin. It is now a hereditary constitutional monarchy with popular representation. It is governed by a general assembly which is elected on October 31st of each year.

Royal Family
Nicholas' family is married into some of the leading royal families of Europe. A daughter, Helene, is Queen of Italy, and others are married into the royal Russian family and other reigning dynasties of the German empire. One daughter, now dead, was first wife of the present King of Serbia.

Real Rulers
Russia and Austria-Hungary are the real rulers of the country and while Montenegro has been independent of Turkey since 1697 it was not until 1878 that the last vestige of Turkish domination was thrown off. Russia furnishes money toward the government expenses as does Austria, which has the police powers of the coast.

RURAL HIGH SCHOOL IN MANITOWOC CO.

District High School for Manitowoc County Will Be Established in Franklin.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 18.—Manitowoc county will establish a district high school in the town of Franklin. The school will bear the same relation to the rural districts as the city high school does to the city.

Dropped Dead on Trip
G. Albee, traveling salesman for the Pound & Nelson Co., wholesale grocers of this city, and one of the best known salesmen of the state, dropped dead at Grand Rapids, Wis., yesterday while on a regular trip for the company. Mr. Albee was 65 years old and had been with the company for forty years.

LILLIPUTIANS WERE NOT PUPILS WANTED

Joke Played on Truant Officer in Superior by Diminutive Actors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Superior, Wis., Nov. 18.—Superior has an industrious truant officer whose duty it is to see that during school hours there are no wayward youngsters playing "hooky." Yesterday afternoon, however, his industry was the cause of his being humiliated and made the butt of merry jests from scores of children at the Matt Carpenter grade school. It happened this way: An Officer Grahm was gliding down Tower avenue with an eagle eye out for runaways when he spotted a bunch of carefree boys and girls who were apparently devoid of any concern whether school kept or not. He took that as prima facie evidence and rounded up the bunch with further ado. Holding directly for the Carpenter school he summoned the youngsters in the presence of Principal Clemens.

Not Students
He bade the principal look them over to discern whether they were any of his flock. All were strangers there. The officer was non-plussed until one of the boys piped up that he and his associates must hurry or they would be late for their lessons. The truant officer then thought to query them and when the young folks had a chance to speak for themselves they explained that they were members of the Lilliputian troupe playing at the theatre here and were even then overdue at their hotel to report to their teacher. They were all led back to their tutor where the astounded officer made due and fulsome apologies.

Pays Large Sum
The Great Northern railroad has paid into the city treasury $25,000 in settlement of delinquent taxes levied in 1906 and 1907 on the company's elevated properties in this city. The city claimed the right to levy the tax, but the company refused to pay, being a question as to the city's authority to levy such a tax under the state law. The city was figuring on suing for the face of the tax and 15 per cent interest but the company finally decided not to test the law and settled by paying face and 4 1/2 per cent.

James Gowdy, formerly a well known resident of the north side, died at the Soldiers' Home in Waupaca as the result of gangrene resulting from a bullet.

ROCKEFELLER WENT ON WITNESS STAND FOR STANDARD OIL

Traces Early History of Big Trust and Tells of First Organization.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Nov. 18.—John D. Rockefeller at two o'clock this afternoon went on the witness stand for the company in the government's suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company.

Master Rockefeller excluded all the spectators from the chambers. The first part of Rockefeller's testimony related to the history of his connection with the oil business, he having first engaged in a small way with several other men in 1860. He traced the progress and changes from that time until the organization of the Standard Oil company in Ohio with a capital of a million dollars in 1870, when much capital was enlisted in the company. He said all members of the firm had devoted their entire time and attention to promoting the company's growth and none had any other business.

MILK DEALERS JOIN TO ADVANCE PRICES

Scarcity of Milk in Sheboygan Has Caused the Dealers to Unite in Effort to Raise Price to Six Cents.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 18.—The present scarcity of milk, according to Sheboygan milk dealers, due to the continued drought this year, has caused all milk peddlers to join in a movement to raise the price to 6 cents a quart.

Will Investigate.
County supervisors are investigating an alleged misappropriation of $500 of the county's money, alleged to be due to Sheriff Henry Pfeiffer. Mr. Pfeiffer claims the county authorized County Clerk J. B. Mattoon, now postmaster, to issue an order for $800. He, however, claims he only received $279, and has formally demanded the balance.

No Signatures.
Postmaster Mattoon claims the money was paid to Mr. Pfeiffer and spent in times in $100 and $200 and $50 orders, but as the stubs in the order book do not bear Pfeiffer's signature, a thorough investigation must be made to ascertain the facts.

STANDARD TIME IN USE FOR 25 YEARS

Previous to Adoption There Were Fifty Different Standards in The United States.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—Twenty-five years ago today took place that world-wide revolution in measuring time—the adoption of the Standard time in the United States, whose example was followed later by other civilized countries. Previous to November 1, 1883, the methods of measuring time in this country were so varied and so numerous as to be ludicrous. There were fifty different standards used in the United States from coast to coast, and on one road between New York and Boston, whose actual difference is twelve minutes, there were three distinct standards of time.

Even small towns had two different standards, one known as "town" or local time and the other "railroad" time. Naturally this conditions of affairs caused endless complications, and railroad officials were harried to the point of despair in their efforts to make out time tables that could be understood by the lay public.

There were many minds which wrestled with the problem. As early as 1862 Prof. Charles F. Dowd, of Saratoga, N. Y., worked out a theory by which he proposed that time should be regulated by a standard of one hour apart. Sir Sanford Fleming presented a plan based on the 24-clock system. The plan which was finally adopted and brought into practice was worked out by W. F. Allen of New York, secretary and treasurer of the American Railway association.

At noon on November 18, 1883, there was a general resetting of watches and clocks all over the United States and Canada, and the four great time zones, one hour apart into which the continent is divided, came into being. So smoothly did Mr. Allen's plan work from the beginning that the general readjustment was accomplished without great difficulty, and it has worked satisfactorily ever since. Other countries were quick to take notice of the convenience of the new arrangement, and the majority of them have adopted the same system.

SEEKING DIVORCE FROM HER COACHMAN HUSBAND

The "Four Hundred" Expect Some Spicy Revelations In Suit Of Mrs. Burke-Roche-Batonyi.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Nov. 18.—Society is looking forward to some spicy revelations in the trial of the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Frances Burke-Roche-Batonyi against her husband Aurel Batonyi, the Austrian coach driver whom she married shortly after her divorce from Burke-Roche, her English husband. The case was called for trial today in open court. At the same time Batonyi's counter-suit, in which he makes various charges against his wife, will be tried.

It was two years ago that society throughout the East was startled to learn that Mrs. Burke-Roche, one of the handsomest women in the "Four Hundred," noted horsewoman, whip and breeder of prize toy bull-terriers, had been for almost a year the wife of Aurel Batonyi, the famous professional whip. The marriage took place Aug. 3, 1906, at the Hotel Empire in this city, but it was publicly announced. Then the couple went to Europe for a while and upon their return took up their residence at Newport.

Prior to her marriage to Batonyi Mrs. Roche, as she preferred to be called, had figured considerably in the newspapers. She was conspicuous in society on account of her wealth, beauty and love of sport. As Miss Frances Burke-Roche was a great belle in this city, and when she went abroad in 1880, she met the Hon. James Doohy Burke-Roche, brother of the present Baron Fermoy, and next in line of succession. They were married, but the marriage proved an unhappy one, and in 1890 Mrs. Roche obtained a divorce in Delaware, with the custody of her three children. Her daughter, Miss Cynthia Roche, a great belle and one of the most attractive young women in society here and in Newport, married in 1905 Arthur Scott Burden, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden. The wedding, attended by all society, was one of the most brilliant held in New York in recent years.

When she divorced her husband her father, a millionaire horseman noted for his eccentricities, made her an allowance. Her habit of exceeding her allowance caused frequent quarrels and estrangements with her father. She announced at one time that she could not possibly live on less than $375 a day, and Mr. Work, wealthy though he was, did not see his way clear to allow her that amount.

It was Mrs. Roche's love for all kinds of outdoor sports that led to her acquaintance with Batonyi. The handsome Hungarian had been a professional whip and instructor of driving in the "Four Hundred" for years. He became Mrs. Roche's teacher and their courtship was carried on in the box of the coach, "Good Times," while one of them handled the lines and the whip and the other occupied the box seat. Batonyi made love as well as drove, and he taught Mrs. Roche thoroughly that she soon became noted as an amateur whip, driving her four-in-hand about Newport and vicinity.

The trouble between bride and bridegroom, however, began almost as soon as their marriage became known. The union was very distasteful to Mrs. Roche's father and he did not seek to hide his sentiments in the matter. He promptly announced that his daughter's allowance was cut off and intimated that the couple would find it rather hard sledding to get along without his help. Subsequent developments proved that his prophecy was correct. Mr. and Mrs. Batonyi lived quietly enough for a time on a small estate near Newport owned by Mrs. Batonyi. Mr. Work did not relent in his attitude and the couple soon found themselves short of funds. Through the intervention of her brothers a reconciliation was effected between Mr. Work and his daughter on condition that the latter leave her husband. She did so and brought the present suit for divorce on grounds of non-support and other charges. Batonyi retaliated by bringing a counter-suit and threatening to drag a number of well-known New Yorkers into the scandal. He also brought suit against his wife's father and brothers for alienation.

DEATH WAS CAUSED BY POLLUTED WELL

Child Dead of Typhoid Fever and Mother Dying of Same Disease, Which Was Caused by Drinking Water from Polluted Well.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 18.—With her mother lying at death's door in the same room at St. Nicholas hospital, Fried Cabot, an only child, died today of typhoid fever, on her thirteenth birthday. The cause of the disease has been traced to a polluted well. The shock of the child's death, it is feared, will prove disastrous for the mother.

OLD SOLDIER WAS FOUND ALMOST DEAD

Frank Delaney, a Civil War Veteran Living in Town of Greenbush, Found at Point of Death in Dirty Hotel.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 18.—Prostrated for two days as the result of a stroke of apoplexy, with no one to care for him and without a particle of food or any nourishment whatsoever, Frank Delaney, an aged veteran of the Civil war, was discovered lying in a dirty, ill-ventilated hotel in the town of Greenbush with life almost extinct. He was brought to St. Nicholas hospital where he is now being cared for.

Lack of care and nourishment has made the old soldier a human skeleton and his life has been a hard one. A monthly pension of $20 from the government and a ten-acre tract of land have kept him from starvation.

FORT ELEVEN AFTER STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Will Play Monroe Next Friday and Meet Oshkosh on Thanksgiving Day.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fort Atkinson, Wis., Nov. 17.—The result of the Fort Atkinson-South Side Milwaukee game, last Saturday, removes another obstacle obstructing the championship aspirations of the Fort Atkinson team.

Monroe comes next Friday and Oshkosh on Thanksgiving day. The turkey day contest, provided the Sawdust City lads win from Sparta on the 21st, ought to decide the interscholastic championship of the state.

Rockford, champion of Illinois, has already challenged the Creamery City eleven for a game to decide the combined championship of Wisconsin and Illinois.

ASK FOR MONEY TO ADVERTISE STATE

Commercial Clubs of Minnesota Want Legislation Appropriating $100,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Backed by their state federation, the commercial clubs of Minnesota are making a whirlwind campaign for legislation which will permit the expenditure of $100,000 a year hereafter in advertising the state to the world at large. The movement has received energetic endorsement in every section of the state, and many members of the coming legislature, which will convene in four months have volunteered their services in promoting the passage of the proper bills to give Minnesota a forenoon and businesslike campaign. The state is now engaged in advertising as a state controlled effort, but the appropriation is in the opinion of the commercial organizations, woefully small. There is every indication that the desired legislation will be readily adopted.

Interest in the project in the agricultural districts is keen. Minnesota has 81,000 square miles of fertile land of which only thirty-four per cent is under the plow. Its tourist attractions have never been advertised except in a purely local way, although the state has 10,000 lakes and Otter Tail county alone has 1,001 within its boundaries. In its far northern sections is the finest big game country in America for the sportsman, and canoe routes through a vast forest wilderness where a sportsman may travel for two months without making the same rivers and lakes twice, but these regions are comparatively unknown. The state federation of commercial clubs is making its campaign on the platform that Minnesota will be one of the great summer regions of the United States, if properly advertised.

The campaign for larger advertising has been largely stimulated by the state's experience during the past year, when 60,000 inquiries have poured into the state offices at St. Paul from seekers after land and business opportunities, as the result of the limited advertising already done. The state immigration department is flooded with correspondence and without much larger funds cannot adequately reap its harvest from the inquiries already received. The results are considered conclusive proof that a campaign backed by ample funds will make the enormously rich wild lands of the state the scene of a settlers' invasion such as the northwest has never seen before. Experts state that 30,000,000 acres support a population of 3,000,000 although its present population is but 3,000,000.

OPENING MEETING WAS INTERESTING

SOCIAL UNION BEGINS ITS SEV-ENTH YEAR VERY AUSPICI-OUSLY.

POLITICIANS ARE DISCUSSED

Good Ten Minute Talks on the Men Who Make Up the Political Life of the Nation.

Politics was the subject of the opening discussion of the Social Union Club last evening at the Y. M. C. A. at the first meeting of the seventh year of that organization. Despite the fact the country has been afflicted with political discussions for the past six months it proved most interesting and entertaining to the members present.

The first subject of the evening was "The Prominent Contributions to Our National Life by Present Day Political Leaders," and it was divided into subjects by Charles H. Lange, the leader, so that the men most prominent in the welfare of two of the great political parties, the republican and democratic, and Eugene V. Debs, the socialist, were talked about.

City Attorney Harry L. Maxfield handled his subject, Robert Marlan La-Follette, in a very able manner. He showed his ideas and his strength in the state to his listeners and went into political alligaments, facts and possibilities.

George Jacobs had Joseph W. Folk, Missouri's governor, for his subject and he handled this type of reformer in a clever manner, explaining his steps towards freedom, the great "Show Me" state from the ring of grafters and corrupt government which it enjoyed until he became district attorney and later governor.

Otto E. Dietrich and Eugene V.
Debs for his subject and he discussed the man, his character, his methods and what he stands for. The socialist leader who led the A. I. U. strike in '04, arrested and placed in jail at Woodstock and later twice presidential candidate, proved an interesting topic.

John Johnson, the sturdy governor of Minn., who has three been elected governor on a democratic ticket in a republican state, who came with a knife and comes from Norwegian parentage, who was Bryan's strongest contender for the presidential nomination, was told by Harold Jones.

Harry Moore discussed William Jennings Bryan. According to Mr. Moore Bryan is sincere in his ideals and follows out the tenets he touches to his thousands of followers the country over. Bryan's last campaign and his doctrines were compared with those of other campaigns in a telling manner.

Theodore Roosevelt was the last statesman discussed and to this subject Frank P. Starr was assigned. The strenuous president came in for his share of praise and some criticism.

The Social Union club is doing a great work among the younger men of the city and the committee in charge, W. E. Clinton, J. H. Jones and J. L. Hostwick have arranged the year's program which should prove most interesting and instructive.

MANY HIGH DEGREE MASONS IN STATE

Honor Always Comes to Those Who Receive it in Form of a Telegram

A. E. Matheson Honored

All Janesville Masons are sending with interest the obituary in Milwaukee
this week of the men high in the ranks of the order. A prominent Milwaukee Mason discusses the receipt of the announcement of elevation to the thirty-third degree in the following manner, which will be most interesting to Janesville people in so much as A. E. Matheson is among those thus honored and T. W. Goldin, formerly a resident of Janesville, now living in Kansas City, is also in the list:

"No one who ever received the announcement that he had been selected for the high honor of a thirty-third degree Mason ever will forget his feelings when he received the simple telegram, in which shape the announcement comes, such a well known Mason, who himself had attained this honor, which came to him through his long and devoted services to masonry.

"There is no honor in the world that creates such a feeling, and no one but a Mason can appreciate it."

This honor, as one expressed it, comes pure and undiluted," to the recipient, who may be one employed in the humbler walks of life while others more prominent are passed by. Why the selection is made no one knows.
It is the will of the supreme lodge.

Wisconsin is well represented in the list of thirty-third degree members of this ancient order. First and foremost always stands Judge H. L. Palmer, governor and commander of the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States. Then comes Thomas E.
Baldwin, deputy for Wisconsin, and George H. Boushager, the active member of the state. These two members sit in the supreme lodge as active members. It is Wisconsin's active that it has the grand commander,
but this is entirely apart from membership due to the recognition of Judge Palmer's long service and work in masonry.

Other Wisconsin men on whom the thirty-third degree has been conferred are:

Francis J. Halsler, Charles D. Rogers,

John J. Crosby, Joel W. Blodman,

Frank H. Golley, Luther L. Canby,

George T. Hooley, H. T. Leuzinger, Julius Weissholzer, Leroy C. Whitney,

W. P. Keagy, W. H. Storer, James H.
Barber, Wilmet F. Miller, R. H. Orme-

BACK FROM A TRIP TO NORTHERN WOODS

Janesville Deer Hunters Return with Four Fine Specimens of the Cervus Family.

Janesville's first party of deer hunters to arrive back home with the spoils of the chase came in from the north last evening. Four fine specimens arrived with them, showing that some deer are being shot despite the forest fires which drove them from their accustomed haunts. The party that returned was composed of Grant U. Fisher, Harry Carter, Edward Parker, Sanford Soverall and William Appley, former chief of police. They went to Oshkosh, on the reservation near Ashland, and then drove to a camp ten miles out from this town to the shores of Lake Superior, where they were most comfortably quartered. In speaking of his trip, Grant Fisher said:

"Our party was up near the edge of the Indian reservation a short distance from Ashland. The forest fires have driven the deer out and some of the parties are not having very good luck. We had nothing to complain of,
as we had an Indian guide who put us in position so that each one had no difficulty in getting his allotted number of deer. It was hard to shoot them however, as the undergrowth where we were was so thick that you had just a glance and the deer was gone. It meant some mighty quick shooting and sure aim to get a deer. The deer seem to have taken to the places where there is dense undergrowth; few of them are out in the open. You need some one to post you on the haunts of the deer before you can even get a shot.

"I venture to predict that unless something is done more than at present, a deer will be a curiosity within the next ten years. Anyone who wants to hunt them will have to go up into Canada, or out west. The Canadians take better care of their game and their game laws are better enforced than in the states so they will keep up the supply of wild animals much longer than we will down here.

"The killing of deer is going on all the time. Every farmer or settler has a bound or two and they always have meat. I don't blame them, but the deer go just the same. Set a hound on the trail and the deer at once takes to the water. All the settlers has to do is to stand on the shore of the lake and get the deer when it gets into the water to get away from the dogs. How many deer are killed that way during this year no one will know, for the hunter does not advertise it. He simply hides the meat and uses it as needed by the family."

CHICAGO FIRM BUYS MONROE CITY BONDS

$20,000 Issue Purchased by Devett, Tremble & Co. for Premium of $1,250.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., Nov. 18.—The $20,- 000 city bond issue was sold to Devett, Tremble & Co. of Chicago for a premium of $1,250, there being twenty-four bidders for the bonds which are to be paid in the next twenty years. The bonds will draw 6 per cent interest down to 4 1/2 per cent. The lowest bid was made by the Community & Savings bank of this city, $201.75. One New York firm bid for the bonds, seventeen Chicago firms,
one Minneapolis, and two Monroe firms.
The money raised on the bonds will be used for improvements of streets, construction of sewers and improvements at the city water works plant.

M. C. Durst, present sheriff of Green county, was elected poor commissioner by the county board in place of J. C. Barker, whose term expires the first of the year. There were five candidates for the place.
Mr. Durst, Andrew Lewis, J. T. Gre-ner, B. D. Gorham and J. C. Barker.
The position pays about $400 per annum.

Two deer with one shot is the remarkable feat of a member of the deer hunting party to which A. B.
Constock, assemblyman-elect from this county, belongs. The party com-sisting of six Green county residents, has killed eight deer in the northern woods of the state near Hannibal.
The hunter fired at a doe of 200 pounds and the bullet penetrated the animal and killed another doe standing at its side.

A FAT BABY

Usually Evidence of Proper Feeding.

Babies grow very rapidly and if they do not get the right kind of food they grow backwards instead of forwards; that is, when their food is not nourishing they grow thin and cross and some of them die from the lack of the right kind of food. A girl writes:

"My aunt's baby was very delicate and was always ill. She was not able to nurse it and took it to one doctor after another, but none of them did the child any good.

"One day mother told my aunt to try Grape-Nuts for the baby, but she laughed and said: 'If the doctors couldn't cure the baby any good, how could Grape-Nuts? But mother said
'try it anyway.'"

"So my aunt put one tablespoonful of Grape-Nuts in a quart of hot water and when the food was soft she added as much milk as water and gave that to the baby.

"In a month and a half you would hardly have known that baby, it was so fat and thrived so fast. A neighbor asked my aunt what made the baby so healthy and fat when only six weeks before it was so thin. She said 'Grape-Nuts.' The neighbor got Grape-Nuts for her baby and it was soon as fat as my aunt's child."

"There's a reason."

FACTS ABOUT ADVERTISING.

Advertising failures are not common. Business failures are. But a genuine failure of advertising itself is exceedingly rare.

Advertising itself is almost foolproof.

It is literally astonishing how the most vague and commonplace advertising will produce business in individual papers when it is backed by a reputable house with solid goods. To make a genuine failure in advertising takes about ten times as much ingu-inity and work as to make a striking success, and then it has to be backed up with poor goods or a wavering business policy.

Let a merchant have good goods and make the prices right and back up every statement made in his advertising (nothing extraordinary to ask) and he may rest assured that his advertising "campaign" will be profitable. He cannot expect much from one ad or a few. No more possible than he would from a single effort of any kind.

ANNUAL SERVICE ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

Evansville, Nov. 17.—The annual Thanksgiving day service will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 25, in the First Baptist church at 7 o'clock. Rev.
D. I. Grabbill will preach the sermon and there will be special music for the occasion.

The ship on which Mrs. Helen Hollister and son Burton are returning from abroad is expected to arrive in Boston this morning. They will spend a short time in that city, but are planning to reach here in time to eat Thanksgiving turkey with Evansville relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Axtell had as their guests at dinner Sunday Mr.
and Mrs. George Hult and daughter Nelle and Mrs. Helen Winston of Janesville and the Winston relatives of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Axtell are also to entertain the Camping club
at their home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Copeland and Mrs. Alice Fellows will go to Chicago tomorrow for a short visit.

Mrs. Lodge Pierce, who has been ill for several days, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo White of Verona were in Evansville for an over-Sunday visit to H. O. Meyers and wife.

Miss Herman Van Patten accompanied by her mother went to Janesville yesterday to consult Dr. Thomas in regard to her eyes.

Mrs. M. V. Pratt is the guest of relatives in Racine this week.

The office help of the Baker Mfg.
Co. will be entertained by Clyde Babcock this evening.

Miss Jennie Bommer of Janesville was an over-Sunday guest of her cousin, Mrs. C. E. Copeland.

Friends of Mrs. George Demelson, who for many years resided near this city, will be pained to learn that she is very ill at her home in Lake Villa, Ill., having recently suffered a stroke
of paralysis.

The Tourist club will meet Tuesday evening, Nov. 24, at the home of Miss Cori Fairbanks. The club will take up the study of Greece for this year's work and the program for the next meeting will be: Early Forms of Government, Mino Phidias; Early Greek Drama and Greek Theatre, Helen Richardson; Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Annette Knudsen.

Mrs. E. S. Rogers, who for some time has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sperry, is reported some better.

At the evening service in the First Baptist church next Sunday Rev. J. L.
Webster will give a review of William J. Bryan's address, "The Prince of Peace."

Mrs. Theo. Bates, who has been sick for the past week with an attack of grippe, is very much better.

Miss Mae Moore was a visitor in Janesville Monday.

C. J. Pearson transacted business in Elgin yesterday.

Clyde Copeland of Monroe has been spending several days at his farm near Evansville.

To fill his portfolio of state will probably be one of the most delicate undertakings which President Elihu Root has upon his hands. The secretary of state is the leader of the cabinet. He is only two places removed from the presidency in importance and influence. He is the guardian of American international honor. With American interests expanding and developing throughout the world, he becomes the messenger and protector of American expansion, and he is the great American governmental missionary of the world.

There is no vouchsafing the idea that the present incumbent in the portfolio of state could succeed himself if he desired. Elihu Root is one of the biggest men the United States has ever developed. He is one of the most successful state secretaries which has ever presided over the state department. Mr. Root would like nothing better than to remain in charge. But Mr. Root is not too rugged nor physically strong. He will undoubtedly desire to lay down his burdens when the administration of President Roosevelt ends. In such an event there are three names which rise to the lips of cabinet prospects. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, would be probably the logical second choice for the position. No one will deny his perfect qualifications for the place. He is a scholar and a diplomat and a warm advisor of Taft. He presided over the Taft convention at Chicago. But Lodge is in the United States senate from Massachusetts with a life mortgage and it is doubtful whether he would prefer the temporary honor of the cabinet to the permanent toga of the senate.

Immediately, then, Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland becomes an insistent possibility. Congressman Burton is another man of diplomatic temperament and perfect qualifications. He too, is a Taft advisor. He nominated Taft in the Chicago convention. He hails from Taft's home state, which will expect to contribute liberally to the new cabinet. He is a logical possibility from every view point—and there is no good reason why he should not accept the job if offered him.

It would, therefore, seem quite probable that the next secretary of state will either be Theodore E. Burton of Ohio or the man who looms large upon the diplomatic horizon as worthy of the job—Dr. David Jayne Hill, American ambassador to Germany. It has frequently been hinted that the residence of Dr. Hill at Berlin was never intended to be permanent. If not intended to be permanent there can be no question but that the plan has been to bring Hill into the official family of the nation's leadership. He completes the quartet of possibilities for the portfolio of state and it is a safe bet that the coming occupant has been named.

NEW YORK'S WATER SUPPLY PROJECT CUT AT TOP SHOWS HOW AQUEDUCT WILL FORM A SYMPHONY UNDER THE RIVER. MAP BELOW SHOWS THE ROUTE OF THE NEW YORK GREAT AQUEDUCT.

New York.—The project of supplying pure drinking water to the city of New York is second only in magnitude to the great feat which the Panama Canal is so successfully carrying on at Panama.

The great ditch across the tethym will cost approximately $200,000,000 while the aqueduct which will carry a river of drinking water 115 miles from the Catskill mountains to New York city, will cost approximately $162,000,000.

Such attention has been attracted to the Panama canal and to the great engineering problems in connection with the transportation tunnels under the Hudson that little is generally known regarding this immense undertaking of America's great metropolis.

The work is actually under way on this and has been for some time. It is estimated that water will be supplied to New York city from this source in about eight years. All of the outlay of $162,000,000 will be devoted to impounding and delivering the waters of the Esopus, Rondout, Schoharie and Catskill watersheds. The estimated daily yield of these sources is 650,000,000 gallons. The water will be conducted to the Ashokan dam which will create the great artificial reservoir in the world. This dam is now under construction eight-fifty miles from the center of New York city, and will cover an area of 14,000 acres. At its nearest point to New York it will be eight miles west of the Hudson and Kingston and will extend inland a distance of 15 miles, with an average width of nearly a mile. In area the reservoir will be nearly equivalent to that of Manhattan Island. At some points it will have a depth of 150 feet, and the average depth will be 50 feet.

To make way for this reservoir, 61 miles of public roadway and 111 miles of railway will have to be abandoned. The huge dams which will confine the water will measure 220 feet from foundation to crest, and will rise 610 feet above sea level. The length of the dams will aggregate three and three-quarter miles.

and Mr. Donor married Miss Davidson. Immediately the house became the center of social life, among the wealthy people of the district. Servants seemed everywhere and the new Mrs. Donor began to enjoy life to the utmost. After Mr. Donor's death, about five years ago, she came into possession of his great fortune and married Count Seckenbort. In her endeavor to climb to the top of social life in the capital she has spent during the last five years over $1,000,000.

Charles M. Schwab recently cut his household expenses $20,000 a year and still lives in magnificent style.

The amount necessary to satisfy the wants of a person seems entirely to depend upon the taste and available cash, but while the courts are fighting out the question as to whether $70,000 a year is sufficient alimony to support Mrs. Howard Gould, many a person leaves a sick of relief that he has 1,400 part of this great amount and whatever part he may have, and is happy.

FAMOUS LOOKOUT INN DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Spectacular Conflagration on Summit of Mountain—Several Cottages Also Are Burned Down.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 18.—Lookout Inn, the noted resort on the summit of Lookout mountain, was destroyed by flames Tuesday afternoon. No one was injured in the fire. The owners of the hotel had just completed arrangements for its sale for $135,000. The place was insured for only $25,000.

Aside from the hotel, four cottages and their contents were destroyed, entailing a loss estimated at $10,000. This amount of insurance on these could not be learned. The hotel power house was badly damaged and the trestle on the face of the bluff was ablaze for a considerable time. At night there was a streak of fire almost from the top to the base of Lookout mountain along the line of the incline, and a force of men was fighting it to prevent its spread to the timber and the many cottages which dot the slope of the mountain.

The fire started in the south wing of the hotel building, but the exact cause has not yet been ascertained. The general theory is that a defective flue was responsible for the fire. The building was as dry as tinder, and a high wind, which was sweeping across the mountain from the west, quickly carried the flames the entire length of the building, and the structure was consumed in a short time. From the city the fire was a spectacular one during its early progress, but soon the mountain was enveloped in a dense cloud of smoke and all that could be seen from high points in the city was what appeared as a terrible storm cloud from the southwest. With the coming of darkness the smoke cleared, and the outline of the crest of old Lookout was marked by a rim of red fire.

The hotel was completed in 1883 and contained about 400 rooms. Each season it has been visited by persons of note from all over the world. Prince Henry of Prussia pronounced it the most ideal spot he had ever visited and the scenery more gorgeous than that of the Swiss Alps.

PRESIDENT'S "LABOR DINNER."

Cabinet Members and Justices Eat with Labor Leaders.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Members of the cabinet and justices of the supreme court of the United States sat down Tuesday night with labor leaders from various sections of the United States at a dinner given by President Roosevelt at the White House to a number of personal friends and men closely identified with the movement to better labor conditions in this country. The occasion was one of the most interesting events that has occurred at the White House in months.

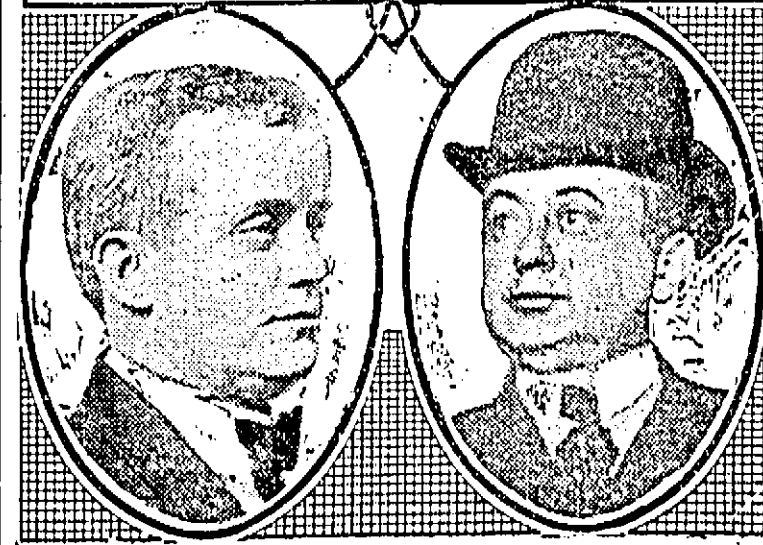

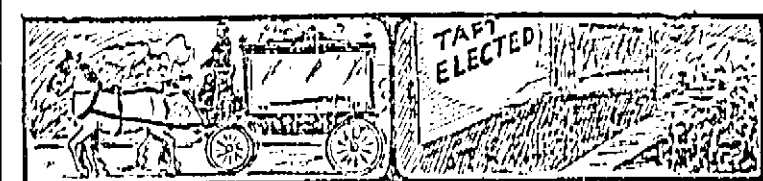

The labor hosts were represented by Warren S. Stano, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; John J. Mahan, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; W. S. Carter, grand secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; P. H. Morrissey, grand master of Railway Trainmen; T. J. Dolan, general secretary-treasurer of the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Druggists; A. L. Faulkner, president of the National Window Glass Workers; David Mackay, president of the Building Trades Organization, and John J. Towers, secretary-treasurer of the New York state Council of Carpenters. Still others present were: George W. Alger, attorney for the labor union; James Bronson Reynolds of New York; Charles H. Sherrill, attorney of New York; Robert P. Bell of New York, attorney for labor unions, and Dr. L. M. Abbott, Lawrence P. Abbott and Ernest H. Abbott, all of the Outlook.

AN ELECTION BET TO DETERMINE WHICH WAS THE DEAD ONE.

Chicago, Ill.—One of the strangest election bets ever made became known today when Attorney Latimer was seen at noon driving up State street on a horse and another prominent attorney, Mr. Pullen, was recognized sitting beside him. This procession, which lacked the solemnity usually accorded such sights, made its way from South Water street to Van Housen street along State and attracted much attention.

The wager grows out of the attempt of Mr. Latimer, who is a Taft supporter and member of the Hamilton and Marquette clubs, to joke with his friend Pullen, who has been one of the big democratic campaign speakers in Illinois.

The enthusiasm is such that he all but frothed at the mouth when Latimer jokingly told him he was fighting for a "dead one."

"Dead one," he said. "After the votes are counted Tuesday you republicans will be buried so deep that you can't be beaten with a diamond drill." "Will you bet on that?" asked Latimer. "Not my life on it." "All right. If Bryan is elected I'll agree to get into a lecture and let you drive it up State street next Saturday at high noon. If Taft is elected it's your life for the house. We'll find out who is the dead one."

HOW MUCH MONEY IS ESSENTIAL FOR A LADY'S PERSONAL AND HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES IN ORDER TO LIVE IN GOOD STYLE?

The recent court discussions in the alimony case of Mrs. Howard Gould, in which she claims that $70,000 per year is entirely inadequate to support one even modestly in her social circle, has brought out the question of domestic finance in a striking manner. Mrs. Howard Gould's sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen Gould, is known to spend comparatively little on her personal pleasures, entertainment and dress, still she moves in the elite social set of New York city. Possibly $15,000 a year would cover Mrs. Gould's expenditures on herself, while her sister-in-law thinks $70,000 too small. Miss Helen Gould, however, in her philanthropy undoubtedly spends much more than the $70,000 so it is again not a matter of expenditure, but of the way the money is spent.

Mrs. Mac Veaugh, one of Chicago's social leaders and a lady noted for her elaborate entertainments, considers $30,000 entirely adequate for her personal wants. She frankly ad-

J. T. JONES AND HIS NEW PROCESS IRON FURNACE WHICH WILL REDUCE THE COST OF REDUCING ORES FROM $9 TO $1.50 PER TON.

Marquette, Wis.—The cost of reducing iron from ore is lowered from $9 to $1.50 per ton according to a dispatch received here by J. T. Jones from his son, Elmer Jones, the manager stating that an experiment with a new process at the Jones new iron furnace had proved an entire success. It is said the success of the new process will permit the utilization of low grades of ore, which at present cannot be worked and are valueless.

The furnace cost Mr. Jones and his associates about $250,000. The success of the new process will have a widespread effect on the iron and steel industry of the country and will make valuable millions of acres of ore holdings now considered worthless.

The entire process takes less than one-third the amount of coal that is used in blasting high grade ore and the equipment needed is far less complicated as can be seen by a visit to the plant. A short time ago Mr. Trindell and a company of Monmouth's leading business men, visited the scene of Mr. Jones' experiments and examined his plant.

The equipment consists of a large cylinder, set on a slight incline. This cylinder is constantly revolving, and the ore comes in the upper end and slowly forces its way down to the lower end. The gases form the secret of the process and enter the cylinder at its lower end and force their way to the upper end, where they pass out of the plant through a stack. With the gases go all the foreign matter in the ore with the exception of silicate that is removed by a second process. When the piece of ore comes out of the cylinder it has the same size as it did when it entered save for the fact that it is porous like a sponge. The small holes in the pieces of iron represent the places where foreign substances were located which were removed by the gases.

The pieces of iron with the silicate are then placed in an immense vessel which revolves. In such a way that with intense heat applied, the silicate is removed and the iron comes out chemically pure and is in huge round lumps like loaves of bread. These lumps are then pressed into an oblong shape by immense pressure and are known as blooms. These blooms are ready for use in steel plants and can be heated to the required heat and pressed into bars or other substances.

The process is bound to take the place of the big blast furnaces because of the small percentage of ore required and its value in treating low grade ore. It can be used near the mine and the blooms or pieces of steel can alone be shipped to the steel mills.

Mr. Jones himself and with associates has options on thousands of acres of low grade iron lands. If his process is the success reported, these low grade iron lands will be worth millions and will turn every mining town in this section into small Pittsburgs.

A MERCHANT MARINE.

The best argument for a merchant marine is found in an object lesson just now presented by our naval fleet in its spectacular tour of the world. These facts, as cited by the Iron Trade Review, and they are certainly magnificent.

When the fleet was ready to sail, a year ago, the discovery was made that the nation was destitute of transports for coal and provisions, and it became necessary to call on other nations for the necessary equipment. There are 41 of these foreign steamers, with a total capacity of 223,000 tons of coal.

Most of them are slow, weak-powered craft, manned largely by Europeans and Chinese. The department took these foreign ships only as a last emergency, realizing, as Secretary McCall says, that it "placed the movements of the fleet practically at the mercy of foreign shipowners." All the apprehensions of the department as to the inefficiency and unreliability of using these foreign craft—the only craft that could be chartered—have been fulfilled.

Two collars should have met the fleet at Honolulu; only one was there. Six collars should have met the battleships at Auckland; only three were there. Only two of the expected foreign "tramps" turned up at Albany, Australia, and Admiral Sperry was forced to reduce the power used in the battleships for distilling fresh water and generating electric lights. After a few days, two or three tardy collars crawled in, but the fleet was delayed in arriving at Manila. This is not the worst, however, for though enforced dependence upon foreign collars is evil and demoralizing in time of peace, international law absolutely forbids the use of foreign collars in time of war.

Thus we have a spectacle of the fleet which cost us over a hundred millions making a parade of our utter helplessness around the world. The freight paid these foreigners on the coal for this spectacular comedy represents the interest on many times the largest amount ever asked in aid of a merchant marine, and which would have been spent amongst our own people instead of enriching foreign vessel owners.

In the light of these facts but little argument is needed for a merchant marine. We boast of our navy and ignore the fact that it would be practically helpless in foreign waters in time of war. Congress will do well to remedy these conditions.

BY LAW OF MIGHT.

This is the name of a new Wall Street novel from the pen of Newton Ridgely, so popular that the first edition was sold in New York city. It is a thrilling story of finance and love and holds the attention of the reader. The following are a few excerpts which indicate the general character of the book:

"When a woman dies it is in her imagination, and the she decreases steadily as knowledge increases. We work on a woman's mind in the hope of making her suffer, and a religion with all its terrors is used to the same end. The unsophisticated do suffer, but the wise laugh at it all."

"Some men have brilliant thoughts, which they lack the ability to express; others have facility of expression, but lack the thoughts; he who has both is a genius, he who has neither is a fool."

"Only symbols and signs, yet that little tiding machine with its scroll of cabalistic names is the modern Apollonius, the devil's mouthpiece with silent voice luring us to a destruction of thousands through the hand. It cries 'Buy' when they ought to sell, and 'Sell' when they ought to buy—namely a true record of transactions, in effect every such a lie, a false prediction of what is to come, the promptings of the manipulator, every yard conveying with convincing earnestness greater falsehoods than the most extravagant and facile pen could frame and make appear the truth."

Instances could be multiplied in great number, but these will serve to show the naïve and decided style of the book. Certainly "By Law of Might" will have to be given the consideration for it is quite upon the lips that it may be one of those works which by reason of their popularity also their statements weight and authority. The entire first edition has been sold in New York city alone, and a second edition is now at the printer's.

(Published at $1.50 by H. A. Smith and Co., New York. Author, Newton Ridgely. The trade supplied only through the Baker & Taylor Co., Handled in Chicago by McClurg.)

Sprockels and the sugar trust are asking for the removal of duty on raw material, which would mean cheaper sugar. It would also mean German competition for American beet-growers, another demonstration of the fact that there is always two sides to the tariff question. People who clamor for reduction always want it tried on the other fellow.

Mr. Bryan is killing ducks, down in Texas, and talking some, as usual, to a not seeking office, but if duty should call for the sacrifice he might be induced to run again in 1912. In the meantime he would be satisfied with a seat in the senate. He evidently has the party by the tail and finds it hard to let go.

The island of Cuba will soon try its second experiment on self-government and results will be watched with interest. Ninety per cent of the population is composed of mixed blood, largely negro and Spanish, and ignorance is prevalent. Cuba should be annexed to the United States for her own good, as well as for mutual advantage.

If the tariff is to be revised to any great extent, it will be necessary for the consumer to put in an appearance at Washington, and file his grievances with the commission. The fact is that the average citizen would find it difficult to name an intelligent grievance against protection. Like the Standard Oil company, it is a good football for kickers.

With a three-year-old emperor on the throne, China should enjoy a few years of rest, before the boy is old enough to become a dictator. The Dowager Empress may be missed, but she will not be mourned to any large extent.

The daughter of Senator Elkins may or may not be engaged to the foreign duke, but the jewelry floating around promiscuously through the mails suggests a serious flirtation, to say the least.

The people most interested in tariff reduction are the people across the seas, representing the great army of unemployed. Free trade, or anything which approaches it, means a transfer of this army to American soil.

The tragedy in the San Francisco court room is another nail in the coffin of municipal corruption. Fire, earthquake, and moral rotteness form a trio of catastrophes of which the latter is proving the most serious, but the right will triumph.

President Roosevelt stirred up a hornet's nest when he entered the theological arena. If there is anything narrower than a church creed, it has yet to be discovered.

Real Roses in Gold. Real roses, mind you, pink and soft and delicate petalled, roses sending out their exquisite garden fragrance among the odors of oil and leather and acid, roses with drops of dew jewelling their half-uncurled leaves, Killarney and American beauties, and Marchion and Nipola standing in jar and for jar against bath and toilet benches and electro-chemical baths, real roses for the basic material which this curious factory converts into mental rosebud bathings for Miss Lady to pin her fluffy tulle hat securely on her pretty head.

Perhaps you've seen them in the city—mental rosebud bathings in the big jewelry stores, wonderfully accurate and true to nature—and have wondered how the artist secured such faithful reproductions. But they are the work of no silversmiths. That is just one place in the world that turns out these mentalized rosebuds, and that is a little factory in North Chicago. Here the perfumed roses come fresh every morning from the greenhouses, hundreds of them at a time, some barely opened, some with two or three leaves curled back, some closed tight and smooth in their long green calyxes. Here the roses go through a new and interesting process that turns them into metal, hardening them beyond possibility of destruction, and reproducing every vein and leaf and roughness of calyx, beyond chance of change. From Golden Ghosts of Roses, December Technical World Magazine.

Magician's Amazing Trick. The enigmatical cube described in the December Popular Mechanics certainly must be numbered among the most mystifying tricks of the magician's art. The enigmatical cube is first a 1-inch cube which the magician produces from the air, and it is then seen to grow while in his hands to a 2-inch, a 4-inch, and a 5-inch cube. The cube is seen to grow slowly to a size of 3 ft. 6 in. The cube is then lifted and from under it steps a woman who starts to run toward the front of the stage. The magician snags his fingers, she instantly stops, disappears in a sheet of flame in full view of the audience, and in her place is seen a gigantic bouquet of real roses, which are plucked and distributed to the audience. The article is illustrated.

FORCING THE CHILD'S MIND.

Once in a while a real educator tells us something about real education. President G. Stanley Hall says, "Today children need training in their development more than they need pushing forward."

Rather startling. Many parents grope because their children do not get on rapidly in school. In most cases of this kind they are wrong. The old idea of pushing children in their studies is giving way.

President Hall says: "Precisely the great danger now. Our children rush ahead and become adults before they should. The best way to broaden is to retard, to delay, to allow children to linger in their paradise and get the full benefit of the rich and manifold benefits of heredity."

Read that over two or three times. There's a lot of sense in it.

It must be remembered, first of all, that EDUCATION IS A GROWTH. Growth requires time for perfection. Education is DEVELOPMENT. Development comes by slow processes.

It is little less than a crime to cheat a child out of its childhood. You can do that; you can push a child out of its natural paradise, by cramming its mind with stuff it cannot mentally digest, by trying to force a culture that should require years.

The very first thing in education is to MAKE THE CHILD A STRONG ANIMAL.

You cannot get mental force unless physical power is behind it. Build up a strong body for the child. The strain of the years will test that body to the utmost.

And, remember—There is danger in forcing the child's brain beyond its normal processes. You may not only stunt the body; you may also blunt the faculties of the mind.

Between stunting the body and blunting the mind you may also lower THE MORAL STRENGTH of the child.

Melancholy instances of these effects are not lacking.

After good health education consists in making A GOOD WORKING BRAIN. And a good brain, like a good body, must be slowly matured. MEMORIZING may be quickly grown; BRAINS cannot be. Hothouse methods will not develop gray brain tissue.

Education, the word itself, comes from the word "educare"—to draw out. To draw out of a child its natural and full expression by natural processes—that is education.

Therefore—Do not force your child's mind.

Train to Mineral Point Were Derailed at Monroe.

At Monroe last night, just as passenger train No. 7, which leaves Janesville at seven o'clock and Monroe at eight, was passing over the switch which is located about 250 yards from the depot, the rod connecting the two points of the switch cable broke and the last two cars of the train were derailed. The rear car, which is for passengers to Plattville, was almost tipped over. The other one was only derailed, as the train was not going very fast at the time of the accident. A bank-car was standing on the spur track near by and had the Plattville car tipped over. It is likely that some of the Italian workmen in it would have been killed. The wrecking outfit was sent out from Janesville and the cars were put back on the track by two o'clock this morning. The accident occurred on the main track but the passing track was not blocked so that no trains were delayed. The cause of the accident is said to have been caused by a spring from a car falling and breaking the switch rod.

BILLS OF LADING IN

EFFECT DECEMBER 1

Two Different Styles Adopted by Interstate Commerce Commission For Railroads.

On December 1st the new bills of lading adopted by the Interstate commerce commission will go into effect on all the railroads in the country. There are two different styles, one for goods billed to order, which are negotiable, and the other for goods which are not billed to order and which are not negotiable. Each bill is to be executed in triplicate, one copy to be kept by the shipping office of the railroad, one by the shipper and one to be sent to the consignee.

Of the negotiable bills the original is on yellow paper and the two copies are on blue paper. All three of the non-negotiable bills are on white paper.

These forms, which are now on file at the local freight offices, were adopted in order that there might be uniform bills in use by all the railroads.

HAVE YOU HAD THIS EXPERIENCE?

A gentleman called last week and being a personal friend said that he wanted to have me estimate the cost of dental work necessary to put his teeth in good order. I set a fair price on good work, but he would not agree to let me do the work, thinking that he could get it done cheaper in Chicago. He went to Chicago and spent a week there to have the work done. Last week his wife called to have me do her work which amounted to quite a bill, and told me that her husband had his work done in Chicago, but the final cost was two and a half times my estimate and that he had been troubled since then with severe toothache. Her work also has said since then has been very satisfactory.

CHARLES NEHL'S HAD CLOSE CALL THIS AFTERNOON.

BOTH LEGS BADLY CRUSHED

Accident Occurred on Galena Street When 2,200 Pound Section Unexpectedly Rolled Off a Terrace. On Galena street, between the Chestnut and High street corners, one of the big long, 2,200 pound sections of cement sewer pipe rolled off a terrace about half past eleven o'clock this morning and Charles Nehls, a laborer, was thrown flat on his back and narrowly escaped having the life crushed out of him. As it was, the big cylinder passed over both limbs and terribly bruised the flesh, muscles, and ligaments. That no bones were broken seemed almost a miracle to the horrified spectators who witnessed the accident. Dr. E. P. Woods was summoned to attend the man and states that he will be kept up for a considerable time at his home, 421 South Franklin street.

SEN. LA FOLLETTE SPENT 2 HOURS IN CITY THIS MORNING

While Awaiting Train for Marshalltown, Ia.—Asked for List of Republicans Who Will Take New Periodical.

U. S. Senator Robert M. La Follette arrived in Janesville from Madison at 7:10 this morning and spent two hours in the city prior to his departure on the 9:10 train for Marshalltown, Ia., where he is to deliver a lecture this evening. Judge Charles Lange accompanied him in front of the Hayes block and directed him to a jewelry store where he wished to make a small purchase. "I am simply stopping off between trains and came here on no political mission," he assured both Judge Lange and District Attorney J. L. Fisher who subsequently greeted him. The Senator asked Judge Lange for permission to use his telephone and got into communication with Frank P. Starr whom he asked to submit a list of Rock county republicans who might be interested in his new political periodical which is soon to be launched.

ELKS ARRANGE FOR ATTRACTION DEC. 8

Also for Memorial Day Observance on Sunday, Dec. 6.—Harold Swartz Initiated Last Night.

Janesville Lodge No. 254, I. O. O. F., at the regular meeting last evening, ratified the proposal of the entertainment committee to present "The Top of the World" musical comedy attraction here under Elks auspices on Tuesday evening, December 8, and directed that the contract be signed.

The organization carries 60 people and is the original company which enjoyed a long run recently at the State Theater in Chicago. In common with all the other lodges in the country, the local members of the order will observe Elks' Memorial Day on Sunday, December 6. A committee consisting of George Sale, Charles Snyder, and T. E. Welch, has been appointed to arrange for the services which will be held at the Myers theatre in the afternoon. The public will be invited to attend. Harold Schwartz was admitted to membership in the lodge last evening.

Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot" Booked by Manager Myers.

Tonight's Performance.

Manager P. L. Myers of the Myers theatre returned from Chicago last evening after having booked Walker Whiteside in his famous production of "The Melting Pot," one of the most talked of plays of the season. Mr. Whiteside will appear at the Myers theatre on Monday evening next and will doubtless be given a warm reception. Mr. Myers also made a partial engagement of Madame Kallich for December 15th. This evening Miss Grace Hayward appears in "Coro, the Creole" and wears some of the much talked of director's and shawl gowns during the play.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Nov. 18, 1868.—Accident.—Mr. E. C. Roof, the head sawyer in the saw and planing establishment of Oates and Hall, met with quite a serious accident this afternoon. While at work about a circular saw, the forefinger on his left hand came in contact with it, cutting the finger from the tip to above the second joint into nearly two parts. It is quite possible that amputation of the wounded finger may be necessary.

Sunday School Institute.—The exercises connected with the Sunday School Institute in this city, have been of an interesting and profitable character and has been well attended. The institute concludes its session this evening. This evening at 7 o'clock there is a meeting of the Sunday School children in the Baptist church. Addresses are to be given by gentlemen from Chicago and from our own state and the children will do the singing.

Major S. S. Rockwood, now of Chicago and formerly of Janesville, has been engaged to take charge of pure mathematics in Milton college, and will enter upon his duties at the beginning of the next term.

Arms For the South.—The arrival of a wagon train laden with boxes of State arms at the arsenal at Raleigh, N. C., is announced. The Governor disclaims anything war-like in connection therewith, but is of the opinion that they, as well as a militia are a State necessity. The arms were procured at the north and brought to Raleigh via Newbury.

The Alabama Claims.—A Washington dispatch of the 14th says: The State Department today received a telegram from Minister Johnson, giving the outlines of the negotiations made with Lord Stanley upon the Alabama question, but declines to make it public at present. It is supposed, however, that Seward is far from being satisfied with them, since he has appeared in a very bad humor ever since the telegram arrived. At the location headquarters of the English, there was much anxiety manifested to know whether Seward will accept the terms of open new negotiations. Seward's friends say he intends to remain firm in the position he has heretofore advocated, and before he will allow Secretary Johnson to make a settlement that will reflect dishonor upon the United States Government, he will retire from Johnson's cabinet and make an appeal directly to the loyal people to sustain his course.

Yenish in Eruption.—Word received from Naples states that Yenish is in a violent state of eruption and that lava is pouring out from it and following the same course as was taken during the eruption of 1855.

News From The Suburbs

EAST PORTER.
East Porter, Nov. 17.—Corn-husking has come to a standstill, the fodder being too dry for handling. Getting up the year's supply of wood is now the order of the day, and many are those who wish they had a wood-lot of their own, as wood is very high in price.

Our teachers who attended the state teachers' association, report a series of very instructive as well as pleasurable sessions.

Aaron Wallin left Friday evening for his usual annual deer-hunting trip in the north woods of Sawyer county.

D. F. Sayre, Sr., in his usual happy manner, entertained the children, as well as the older ones of the Fulton Congregational church with stereopticon views of "The Prodigal Son" and of the 23rd Psalm. Miss Louie Raymond gave a reading on the same, and Chas. Raymond as is usual with him rendered a vocal solo that was much appreciated by all present.

Ed. Wallin has returned and at present is not as well as is usual with him. We hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

Lester Thomson and sisters Nettie and Blanche spent Sunday with their uncle, John Thomson of Fulton.

Jay Roberts of Center attended the Golden Rule social given at Aaron Wallin's, on Friday evening last.

Ladies Aid met with Mrs. Price on Wednesday afternoon of this week as usual.

We are very sorry to learn of the accident to Hubert Lenn at his home last week. Each week adds to the list of victims of the dreaded corn-shredder.

Will Wright expects to entertain corn-shredders during the week.

The first open session of the Golden Rule club was a complete success, judging from the many choice viands served by the ladies of the club as well as the choice program given by the children. A vote of thanks is due Mrs. Aaron Wallin for her kind hospitality, which we herein extend.

To understand Robert Cook has taken up his residence with Ernest Haylock for the winter.

Mrs. J. T. Wright of Janesville has been spending several days with Misses Alice and Emma Wright.

Quite a number of visitors from Houghton attended the Stebbinsville church last Sunday.

Don't forget the Fulton lecture course number which will be given Saturday evening, Nov. 23, by the Nell Litchfield Trio.

CENTER.
Center, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Will Dixon has been quite ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. U. Fisher in Janesville for the past week. She was threatened with pneumonia. Her friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Kennedy's force from Footville has been hunting for J. J. Fisher.

High school students enjoyed a two days' vacation on account of the W. Teachers' association which convened in Milwaukee last week.

Mrs. Shu Schroeder and daughter, Miss Edna, of Janesville, came out to S. L. Crall's last Thursday for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Brown of East Center and Mrs. Fred Fuller attended the O. E. S. banquet in Janesville last Wednesday evening and enjoyed a fine time.

It was Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Crow of Beloit who visited relatives in this vicinity last week instead of C. S. Crow.

Miss Kate Crall attended the teachers' convention in Milwaukee last week.

Misses Amanda Adoe and Edna Schroeder visited Miss Lowry's school Friday afternoon and Miss—Verna Davis' Thursday.

Mrs. Chas. Whitmore has been visiting in Chicago.

ORFORDVILLE.
Orfordville, Nov. 16.—Miss Pearl Hess of Deloitte is visiting at the home of H. C. and B. J. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Allen left on Sunday for a few days' visit with relatives at Independence, Iowa. C. O. Ness and Miss Lillian Bernatch will have charge of the store during their absence.

E. O. Ness has erected a neat little blacksmith shop on his farm south-west of the village.

Go. Pankhurst delivered a carload of shoats to Taylor & Wiggins on Friday that averaged 214 pounds a piece. He got the highest price.

Mrs. C. S. Howard of Whitten, Ia., arrived in the village on Friday for a few weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. John Smiley.

Mrs. C. E. Pederson is spending a few days with relatives and friends in Milwaukee.

Hot charity and lady friend of Edgerton visited over Sunday at Henry Howe's.

Mervin Beck came out from Beloit on Friday to remain at home over Sunday.

Messmess Casper Bergh and John Ward were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Papoun of Albany one day last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Clifford and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. D. Fairhurst of Juda attended the chicken-pie supper on last Friday evening.

Miss Cora Himo, who is attending school at Red Wing, Minn., arrived in the village last Saturday to spend a few days at home.

The chicken-pie supper and entertainment which was held at Wedgerton on last Friday evening was a grand success. The supper was excellent and the entertainment was fine. Mrs. Mable Crum, better known to many as Mable Taylor, who gained a great reputation as a reader years ago, held the audience for about a half hour with a beautiful presentation of a story of the life of Lincoln, and on being offered she gave an original fine selection. Miss Gertrude Homingway of Hanover also pleased the audience with two fine selections.

Miss Della Strong of Footville sang a beautiful solo, as did also Mrs. W. T. Green. Others that took part were local talent and all did well. The orchestra gave several fine selections in music. The proceeds were about $50.

Miss Della of Watertown is spending a few days at J. J. Taylor's.

Miss Nettie Naugle of Newark spent a few days last week with Miss Ethel Compton.

The Janesville high school students from here spent Sunday at their homes.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY.
North Spring Valley, Nov. 16.—Harry Bates, who has been assisting the tenth Bros. with their corn-shredding machine, was caught in the snapping rollers while attempting to oil the bearings of the same while the machine was in motion. His arm was drawn in to the elbow and the bone crushed so that amputation was necessary before the shoulder, Mr. Bates has resided in this community for a number of years and is highly respected by all. The sympathy of the entire community is with him in his trouble. He is being cared for at the home of James Houghton, where the unfortunate accident occurred last Friday. Dr. Darby of Broadhead attended him and the wound is healing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Avery and daughter Jean of Galena, Ill., visited at the home of Mrs. M. Harper last week.

"Is it you?" she asked in a low voice.

"Yes. I didn't wake you, did I?"

"No. Is Gerald here?"

"Yes; in his own room. Did you wish to speak to me about anything?"

"Yes."

"He heard her coming to the door. It opened a very little. 'Good night,' she whispered, stretching toward him her hand. 'That was all I wanted—to touch you before I closed my eyes tonight.'"

He bent and looked at the hand lying within his own—the little hand with its fresh, fragrant palm upturned and the white fingers relaxed, drooping inward above it—at the delicate bluish vein in the smooth wrist.

Then he released the hand, untouched by his lips, and she withdrew it and closed the door, and he heard her laugh softly and lean against it, whispering:

"Now that I am safely locked in I merely wish to say that in the old days a lady's hand was sometimes kissed. Oh, but you are too late, my poor friend! I can't come out, and I wouldn't if I could—not after what I dared to say to you."

And, too low for him to hear even the faintest breathing whisper of her voice: "Good night. I love you with all my heart, with all my heart, in my own fashion."

He had been asleep an hour, perhaps more, when something awakened him and he found himself sitting bolt upright in bed, dawn already whitening his windows.

Somewhere was knocking. He swung out of bed, stepped into his bath slippers and, passing swiftly to the door, opened it. Gerald stood there, fully dressed.

"I'm going to town on the early train," began the boy. "I thought I'd tell you."

The dawn was no paler than the boy's face, no more dewy. "Trouble was his, the same old trouble that has dogged the trail of folly since time began, and Solwyn knew it and wanted."

At last the boy broke out: "This is a cowardly trick, this sinking in to you with all my troubles after what you've done for me, after the toll you've taken of my life. I can't tell you; I simply cannot. It's so contemptible, and you warned me, and I owe you already so much."

"You owe me a little money," observed Solwyn, with a careless smile, "and you've a lifetime to pay it in. What is the trouble now? Do you need more? I haven't an awful lot, old fellow, worse luck, but what I have is at your call, as you know perfectly well. Is that all that is worrying you?"

"No, not all. Neergard has lent me money—lots of money—placed me under obligations. I liked him, you know. I trusted him. People he desired to know I made him known to. He was a fine fellow, a fine fellow, and though my obligations to him left me no choice but to take him to such people as he desired to meet. We—we had trouble recently."

"What sort?"

"Personal. I felt—began to feel—the pressure on me. There was at moments something almost of menace in his requests and suggestions, an impetuosity I did not exactly understand. And then he said something to me."

"Go on. What?"

"He'd been thinking at it before, and even when I found him jolliest and most amusing and companionable I never thought of him as a social possibility—I mean among those who really count—like my own people."

"Yes, my boy. I see. Go on. When did he ask to be presented to your sister?"

"Who told you that?" asked the boy, with an angry flush.

"You did—almost. You were going to anyway. So that was it, was it? That was when you realized a few things—understood one or two things, was it not? And how did you reply? Arguably, I suppose."

"Yes."

"With a—some little show of a—"

contentment?"

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Exactly. And Neergard was put out slightly?"

"Yes," said the boy, looking some of his color. "I—a moment afterward I was sorry I had spoken so plainly, but I need not have been. He was very ugly about it."

"Threats of calling loans?" asked Solwyn, smiling.

"Hints; not exactly threats. I was in a bad way too." The boy winced and swallowed hard; then, with sudden white desperation stamped on his drawn face, he added: "Oh, Philip, it—it is disgraceful enough, but how am I going to tell you the rest? How can I speak of this matter to you?"

"What matter?"

"A—about—about Mrs. Ruthven."

"What matter?" repeated Solwyn. The voice rang a little, but the color had fled from his face.

"She was—Jack Ruthven charged her with—and me—charged me with—"

"You?"

"Yes."

"Well, it was a lie, wasn't it?" Solwyn's body this scarcely moved, but his eyes twinkled.

"I heard her coming to the door. It opened a very little. 'Good night,' she whispered, stretching toward him her hand. 'That was all I wanted—to touch you before I closed my eyes tonight.'"

He bent and looked at the hand lying within his own—the little hand with its fresh, fragrant palm upturned and the white fingers relaxed, drooping inward above it—at the delicate bluish vein in the smooth wrist.

Austin.

eyes were narrowing to a glimmer. "It was a lie, wasn't it?" he repeated.

"Yes, a lie. I'd say it, anyway, you understand, but it really was a lie."

Solwyn quietly leaned back in his chair. A little color returned to his cheeks.

"All right, old fellow—his voice scarcely quivered—"all right. Go on. I know, of course, that Ruthven lied, but it was part of the story to hear you say so. Go on. What did Ruthven do?"

"There has been a separation," said the boy in a low voice. "He behaved like a dirty cat. She had no resources, no means of support." He hesitated, musingly his dry lips with his tongue.

"Mrs. Ruthven has been very, very kind to me. I was—I am fond of her. Oh, I know well enough I never had any business to meet her. I behaved abominably toward you and the family. But it was done. I knew her and liked her tremendously. She was the only one who was decent to me, who tried to keep me from acting like a fool about crime."

"Did she try?"

"Yes—indeed, yes! And, Phil, she—I don't know how to say it—but she—when she spoke of—of you—begged me to try to be like you. And it is a lie what people say about her—what gossip says. I know. I have known her so well—and I was like other men—charmed and fascinated by her, but the women of that set are a pack of cats, and the men—well, none of them ever ventured to say anything to me! And that is all, Philip. I was horribly in debt to Neergard. Then Ruthven turned on me—and on her, and I borrowed more from Neergard and went to her bank and deposited it to the credit of her account; but she doesn't know it was from me. She supposes Jack Ruthven did it out of ordinary decency, for she said so to me. And that is how matters stand. Neergard is ugly and grows more threatening about those loans, and I haven't any money, and Mrs. Ruthven will require more very soon."

"Is that all?" demanded Solwyn sharply.

"Yes, all. I know I have behaved shamefully."

"I've seen," observed Solwyn in a dry, hard voice, "worse behavior than yours. Have you a pencil, Gerald?"

Get a sheet of paper from that desk. Now, write out a list of the loans made you by Neergard—every cent, if you please—and the exact amount you placed to Mrs. Ruthven's credit. Have you written that? Let me see it."

The boy handed him the paper. He studied it without the slightest change of expression, knowing all the while what it meant to him, knowing that this burden must be assumed by himself, because Austin would never assume it. But the thought of the cost sent a shiver over him and left him creased and gray.

After a moment he turned to Gerald, a smile on his colorless face, and said:

"It will be all right, my boy. You are not to worry. Do you understand me? Go to bed now. You need the sleep. Go to bed, I tell you. I'll stand by you. You must begin all over again, Gerald, and so must I—and so must I."

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Springfield, Ill.—The coming session of the Illinois legislature will be a profitable one. With a force field for the speaker, with an election record pending and but not least, the United States senatorship in the balance, the legislative program is indeed full.

The first and greatest battle will be over Senator Hopkins' seat at Washington. It will be remembered that Illinois had an advisory primary this year, in which all of the candidates for senator participated. If the result in the state is to be taken as a whole, Senator Hopkins won an easy reelection in the legislature, because he carried more districts than his republican opponents. The senator's most active opponent, however, was the young and eloquent Congressman George Edmund Foss, who made a strong score in the primary although losing out in the total. Friends of Foss claim that the primary must not be viewed from the standpoint of the state-wide total, but that the opinion dictated by district must be considered.

If the opinion by districts is to prevail, then Hopkins would have 86 votes on joint ballot in the legislature. Foss would have 27, ex-Senator Mason 12 and the democratic Mr. Stricker 78. This would give Senator Hopkins a lead but not a majority and would open the way for a Foss fight.

The Hopkins men, however, insist that the primary vote was for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the entire state, and not of a single district, and the advisory vote is binding on the whole republican membership of the legislature. If this construction is followed, and all of the republicans line up for him, he would have a total of 125 votes or 22 more than necessary.

It is evident that there is to be a battle royal, however, before this construction is accepted, and Springfield is anticipated one of the liveliest legislative contests which has pressed the capital in years.

publican national convention, when he guessed within a vote of Foss' majority in the convention.

Again in the elections just passed, Hitchcock would receive 325 electoral votes. With Missouri safely in the republican column, he has 319 and Maryland still to be decided. Maryland has eight votes and if these are all republican he will have 327, or if it is split, as now looks apparent, Taft will receive just 325 predicted.

The question arises as to whether this is due to some bad fortune or his grasp on the situation and it is undoubtedly the latter.

No man is a closer follower of details than Hitchcock. He has been termed the "Card Index" chairman. This is not literally so, as is generally thought, but figuratively it is, for he follows almost each voter in each state and his predictions are not guesswork, but the knowledge based on facts.

The Better Way.

Chasing rainbows is thought to be a futile pursuit, but, after all, the fellow who will walk five or six miles a day in the open country, trying to locate the end of this arc of promise, will win large dividends in health.

Words of Praise

For the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, as given by leaders in all the several schools of medicine, should have far more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has the honor of HONESTY on every bottle-wrapper, in a full list of all its ingredients printed in plain English.

If you are an invalid woman and suffer from frequent headache, backache, gnawing distress in stomach, periodical pains, diarrhoea, catarrhal, pelvic, drain, dragging-down distress in lower abdomen or pelvis, perhaps dark spots or specks dancing before the eyes, faint spells and kindred symptoms caused by female weakness, or other derangement of the feminine organs, you can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hospital, surgeon's knife and operating table may be avoided by the timely use of "Favorite Prescription" in such cases. Thereby the obnoxious examining and probing treatment of the family physician can be avoided, and a long and costly course of treatment almost entirely avoided.

In the case of the young, "Favorite Prescription" is composed of the very best native medicinal roots known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments, catarrhs, alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Do not expect too much from "Favorite Prescription"; it will not perform miracles; it will not dissolve or cure tumors. No medicine will. It will do as much to establish vigorous health

CITY TO FURNISH EMPLOYMENT FREE

Manitowoc Will Watch Out for Its Citizens During the Coming Winter.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 18.—Under a resolution adopted by the council the city will establish an employment agency this winter in charge of the city clerk. The resolution directs that the clerk shall receive and handle all applications for employment and shall receive the applications of employers for labor. A large bulletin board will be erected at the city hall for the purpose. It is said probable that the city clerk will refuse to accept the additional burden of work and if the measure necessitates the employment of an additional man, the council will probably reconsider.

Deaf of Injury
Injured last July when he struck on his head in diving from the north pier into the lake, Alex. Sanville, aged 10, died at the hospital yesterday. Sanville sustained an injury to the head that resulted in paralysis and there was never a chance for his recovery. The boy struck a submerged pile when he made the leap with a number of others.

Pioneer Dies
George Gibson, county pioneer and since 1863 a businessman of the city, is dead, aged 77 years. Mr. Gibson came here from the east in 1854 and was in the lumber business at Branch until '63, when he came to the city. Two sons, one Elton Gibson, a city mail carrier, survive. Mr. Gibson was one of the earliest members and an officer of the Methodist church.

Increases Pay
Because the city is experiencing trouble to get election officials at the old rate, the council has increased the pay of members of the boards from $3 to $4 and will allow this amount for work in the recent election. It is said that several of the boards in the city could not secure men at the old rate and a promise of increased compensation was made before the election. As a result of the matter the council is settling purchase of voting machines in all wards and will probably authorize this before the next state election.

A Compromise
J. Neumann Sons Co., who came here six months ago and opened a clothing store, faced prosecution as transient merchants and were convicted, and fined and then appealed, will close out their store and will remove to Chicago to engage in the wholesale clothing business. It is said. A compromise of the city's suit will be effected by the company by paying the year's assessment of taxes says report.

YANKEE STARTS ON DISTANCE FLIGHT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 18.—The new balloon "Yankee," manned by Albert Bond Lambert and a member of the city council, H. E. Honeywell, started on a long-distance flight from here today. A light breeze carried the balloon eastward over Illinois.

Inspection of the Fire Alarm Boxes by Beloit Chief Shows That Parts Have Been Removed From Them.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Nov. 18.—The Beloit fire department was called out twice this morning to answer fire calls. One was a false alarm and the other was a slight blaze at the home of F. J. Smith on St. Lawrence avenue, which was caused by sparks from the chimney falling on the roof and causing it to ignite. The fire was extinguished before more than ten or fifteen dollars of damage had been done. Immediately after the two alarms had been answered, the chief of the fire department made an examination of all the fire alarm boxes and found that some of them had been tampered with. The key had been stolen from one and others had various parts missing.

The Beloit high school held its preliminary debate to select the team which shall meet the debating team from Janesville, yesterday. The two teams will hold the debate on December 1st. Those who were selected by the judges are: Leader, James Carter, and Edward Smith and Gregory Burns.

Judge Ross, the judge of the municipal court, has gone to Washington, D. C., and A. D. Roadhouse, the clerk of the court, is acting in his place. He began yesterday afternoon and all went well until this morning, when two couples appeared on the scene, who wished to be married. All of the young people were under age and none of them had secured the consent of their parents, so they had to be sent home to secure this. One couple was from Winnebago county in this state, and the other came from Rockville, Ill.

The football season for the Beloit college team has been closed, the game with Monmouth next Saturday having been cancelled by them on account of being one of their players who is suffering from concussion of the brain. He received a kick in the head in the game with Knox College last Saturday.

GIVES PRAISE TO Y. M. C. A.

President Roosevelt Warmly Commends the Organization's Work.
Washington, Nov. 18.—"I doubt if there is a movement among the movements that one can broadly term philanthropic, in the country which better deserves the interest and support of our people than the movement for Young Women's Christian association."

Thus spoke President Roosevelt to a gathering of prominent young women of Washington who called at the White House Tuesday afternoon on the president's invitation, to receive his congratulations on the splendid work done by the Young Women's Christian association in this city.

Chief Sitting Bull's Bones Will Not Be Disturbed

Saint Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—The white undertakers from Saint Paul who have been moving the bones of dead Indians from Fort Yates, N. D., an abandoned military post, to Keokuk, Ia., will not disturb the remains of famous Sitting Bull, war chief of the Sioux, and an uprising of that tribe has been averted by the tactful handling of the situation by army officers and special agents of the Indian service. The remains of fourteen braves have been transferred to Keokuk. The bones of those remaining will remain where they are, and the keen superstitions of the Indians have proven of such weight that the white men will not touch what is mortal of Sitting Bull.

A portion of the remaining braves of the Sioux have suggested, in negotiations which have been in progress for ten days, that ultimately they desire that Sitting Bull's bones be transferred from Fort Yates to a spot on the Grand river in the heart of the ancient range of the Sioux, where the war chief was killed. The place where he fell has been marked by the Indians and is held to be sacred ground. The consent of all the Sioux will have to be obtained before this can be done, since the government's experience recently have convinced army officers that bloodshed will follow any action with reference to the remains of the chief, which does not meet the approval of the braves still living.

The Smithsonian Institution and the historical societies of both North and South Dakota have asked the government for the bones of Sitting Bull. No action will be taken on these requests in view of the recent troubles with the Indians, who believe that white interference will be followed by tribal calamities and the vengeance of evil spirits, upon their braves.

HAS WORST BILLBOARDS.

So Say the Municipal Improvement Experts About Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 18.—Ugly billboards, dust and noise nuisances, mosquitoes and flies, the liquor problem, parklike cemeteries and the function of business bodies in improving civic conditions, were the chief features of the second day's session of the joint convention of the National Municipal League and the American Civic association here Tuesday.

Many prominent men and women from all parts of the United States delivered addresses, some of them being illustrated by lantern slides. It was agreed that Pittsburgh has more ugly billboards to the square foot than any other city in the country.

Justice Harlan Not to Retire.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court Tuesday denied that it was his intention to retire from the bench. "I have never authorized anyone to say that I have any purpose to retire," he declared. "Whenever I come to retire voluntarily I will let the public know. Just now I see no reason to quit the bench."

ATTACKED BY MOUNTAIN LION.

South Dakota Couple Are Rescued by a Cowboy.

Farmington, S. D., Nov. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bigelow of this city were attacked by a mountain lion Tuesday while driving to Underwood. Mr. Bigelow saw what at first he thought was a yearling calf a short distance ahead. As he drew up to the animal he discovered that it was an unusually large mountain lion. The lion attacked the horses, when a cowboy from a nearby ranch came to the rescue and succeeded in knocking the lion around the neck and one of the front legs. The animal was dragged across the prairie until he was subdued and finally "hog-tied."

The lion was brought to Farmington and is now confined in a stout cage, and it is the intention of the captors to ship it as a Christmas gift to President-elect Taft.

IS WEDDED TO HER CHAMPION.

Mrs. Sophie Harrison Eastman Marries Baker Edwards.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Sophie Harrison Eastman, daughter of the late Carter Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, was married here Tuesday night to Baker E. Edwards of Norfolk, Va. The ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace in the offices of the attorneys who have been conducting Mrs. Eastman's suit against Col. V. S. Melton.

It is said that Edwards' activity in Mrs. Eastman's behalf since the litigation began was responsible for his success in his suit for her hand. Edwards was divorced recently from his former wife, Mrs. Eastman was divorced from her husband several years ago.

SCOOP BY HONOLULU PAPER.

Prints What Purports to Be Text of New Treaty with Japan.

Honolulu, Nov. 18.—The Hawaii Shinhwa publishes what purports to be a text of a new treaty between Japan and the United States, the official announcement of which, it says, will not be made until next February. The treaty, as published, guarantees the integrity of China. The emigration of laborers from either country to the other is prohibited until a further agreement is reached.

A Religion of Posture.
A religion of posture and imposture, of flexion and genuflexion, of bowing to the right and curtsying to the left, and an enormous amount of man military, these I imagine are somewhat wearying to our maker—Sydney Smith.

Disqualified.
The man who absent-mindedly sets the alarm clock on Saturday night for the usual time is in no frame of mind to attend church when he comes to a realizing sense of the situation on Sunday morning.

Mike Lily Langtry, placing her bet on the "hookies," which won her $100,000.

Newmarket, Eng.—Mrs. Langtry is once more in funds. Her horse, Yontol, won the Coweswick stakes, 2 1/4 miles, for three-year-olds and upward, on the newmarket track. Puro Gem was second, and Glacis third. Sixteen horses ran. Puro Gem was the favorite.

The betting was 700 to 6 against Yontol, and 7 to 2 against Puro Gem, and Mike Langtry plunged heavily on her horse, backing him bravely at every opportunity.

In the colicdence that the actress won the same stakes in 1897 with her Australian bred horse, Merman, and that on that occasion she also reaped a fortune of between $100,000 and $200,000 at just about the same odds, 100 to 7.

In the 1897 race Tod Sloan rode James R. Keene's St. Cloud. The Prince of Wales (now Edward VII.) escorted Mrs. Langtry to the field. The crowd cheered equally the heir apparent and Mrs. Langtry, who was at that time at the hey-day of her beauty and success.

It was not until 1892 that Mrs. Langtry's colors, turquoise and fawn hoops and turquoise cap, were noticeable on English race courses. Her infatuation for the sport was encouraged by Abingdon Hall, who died in America in the early '80s, when touring with Charlie Mitchell, the pugilist. Hall gave Mrs. Langtry, Milford, which became the nucleus of her stable. Later she purchased Nobleman, Currier and Pride of the Sea from Lord Culthorpe, for which she paid high prices, but none of which had any great successes.

It was in 1896 that her stable, Regal Lodge, began to succeed. During that year she purchased Merman. In 1900 Merman with Tod Sloan up, won for

"Mr. Jersey" (Mrs. Langtry) the Gold Cup at Ascot, value 1,000 sovereigns, with 3,000 sovereigns in specie in addition.

Among other good horses the actress has raced with success were Frair, Tuck and Captive Pot.

Although still popularly known as Mrs. Langtry, the famous actress is really Mrs. Hugo de Balto. She married a young English army officer of that name after she had obtained a divorce in California from Edward Langtry, the son of an Irish shipping merchant and a man of great wealth. She was at one time reported engaged to "Freddie" Gebhard.

On Friday and Saturday of this week, the 20th and 21st, we will conduct a monster linen sale. $10,000 worth of table damask, napkins, pattern cloths and towels will be included. Our entire stock will be offered at one tenth off from regular price on all of our very choicest linens. Nothing excepted. It is almost needless to tell people of the immensity of our stock, as people naturally think of the Big Store when they want to see the largest assortment of anything in the linen line.

THREE BIG SPECIAL BARGAINS

At 85c A YARD we offer the choice of every piece of dollar Table Damask in stock; bleached, half bleached and unbleached; German Linen, Scotch Linen, Irish Linen. Really unusual value at $1.00 per yard. Smaller merchants in many places, sell no better linen at $1.25. We have to buy in large quantities in order to retail them at $1.00 per yard. Our assortment includes almost every desirable pattern made. Width, 72 inches. These choice Damask all go on sale at 85c per yd. Friday and Saturday

At 45c About 15 different styles of unbleached Table Damask; 60 inches wide, that you would think nothing of paying from 65c to 75c for in the average store. Our price has been 55c which is unusual for this grade of Damask. 1500 yds. on sale, Friday and Saturday at 45c

We have taken from our stock about 30 pattern cloths, exceptional values, which have gotten slightly soiled in the handling. Included are all sizes in beautiful patterns. We offer these at ONE-FOURTH LESS THAN REGULAR PRICE for Friday and Saturday.

Our line of Pattern Cloths is truly wonderful. We have three different qualities in almost every desirable size made. Cloths for long and for round tables. Ours is a stock that would do credit to the largest city stores. Remember, these choice Cloths all go on sale at 1-10 off from regular price Friday and Saturday

It will pay you to buy a year's supply of linen at our figures as it is like buying gold dollars at 90 1/2c.
